PERSHING DIRECTED FIGHT IN PERSON

(By the Associated Press)
Washington, June 8.—General Pershing personally directed the recent fighting of the American troops at Cantigny, from which the Germans were driven and 200 prisoners taken, members of the senate military committee were told today at the weekly conference with war department officials. A village was taken by the Americans May 28 and all attempts to recapture it have been vain.

AMERICAN DRIVE IN FULL SWING

FIGHTERS SHOW NO SIGN OF SLOWING DOWN. HUNS DRIVEN BACK OVER TWO MILES.

(By the Associated Press)
American marines and French troops northwest of Thierry have driven the Germans back two and a half miles on a six mile front and sharp fighting continues at the latest reports. Along the Clignon river Americans have taken Tourcy and Boursches and the French have taken Veully-La-Poterie and Vinley. Extremities of the two day Franco-American advance are marked by Boursches and Vinley. German prisoners now taken in the fighting here number 300. Between Harne and Rheims French completed the capture of Bligny. Elsewhere on the Salient infantry fighting has been at a minimum.

Anglo-French airmen Thursday accounted for thirty-five enemy airplanes besides dropping over sixty tons of bombs behind the German lines.

Attacks by French and Italian troops in which over seventy prisoners taken are reported from the Italian front, between Lake Garda and the Piave river.

THREE SOLDIER HUSBANDS FOR THIS BRITISH WOMAN.
London, June 8.—To have lost two husbands and married a third during the war has been the experience of Lady Michael Wardell, one of London's May Day brides.

She is a daughter of Sir Daniel Cooper, an Australian millionaire. She married first, the late Viscount Northland, who lost his life on active service in 1915, and left a will in which he expressed the hope that his widow would marry again. She fulfilled his hope when she was married to Captain Geoffrey Mills, who was killed a year ago.

Her third husband is also a British officer, holding a commission in the Royal Hussars.

SEVEN OFFICERS' BRAINS OF GERMAN ARMY
(By the Associated Press)

Amsterdam, June 8.—The "brains of the German army," according to the Lokal Anzeiger, consists of seven German officers, none of them of higher rank than colonel, and four of them men who have risen from the ranks and belong to the "lower classes."

"It is they," says the newspaper, "who are at Ludendorff's elbow and are in charge of the western offensive. They are the inner high command, being Ludendorff's personal and immediate war council."

Their names are given under the caption "Men of Action." They are: Colonel von Merz, Lieut.-Col. Wetzel, Lieut.-Col. Bauer, Major Frahnert, Major von Bockelberg, Major von Harbou, Captain Geyer.

It is hinted that Wetzel is chief of the Intelligence Department. "Lieut.-Col. Bauer's forte is intuitive divination of Ludendorff's intentions," says the newspaper.

All of these seven men, it is said, have come to the front since the beginning of the present war. They are characterized as "men of untiring energy, drive and capacity for quick decision."

LOCAL COUNTER ATTACK PUSHES HUNS BACK. GERMAN RAIDS REPULSED.

(By the Associated Press)
Paris, June 8.—New progress was made last night by the French in the region between the Marne and Oureq, northwest of Chateau Thierry, the war office announced today. In this sector French troops have pushed their way through Chezy to its eastern outskirts and have reached the western edge of Dammarville. South of Veully-La-Poterie the Germans made two violent attacks along the Boursches-Le Thiolet front but were repulsed with heavy losses.

Successful Raid by British
London, June 8.—In a successful raid last night in Hulluch neighborhood the British captured a few prisoners and inflicted casualties on the enemy in Strazeele sector, capturing a machine gun. Hostile artillery was active north of Albert and South east of Arras, the statement concludes.

SPORTING SPIRIT OF BRITISH AND AMERICANS.

London, May 11 (Correspondence of The Associated Press).—The high esteem in which England holds the American soldier and sailor is reflected almost daily by the London press. One paper devotes a long article to American qualities as exhibited by Fireman M., champion light heavyweight of the U. S. Navy. The writer watched him in a contest with the champion of the British Grand Fleet.

"One was forcibly reminded," he says, "how exceedingly impolite we are on the surface—and how thoroughly good natured. The latter quality was responsible for the applause which greeted the appearance of the American—applause far louder than that accorded our own champion."

"It swelled to a roar as he sprang up on the stage where the ring was fixed. It is not the custom in the British Navy for even a popular favorite to acknowledge the cheers which greet him. The correct procedure is for him to dive quickly into his corner, where his seconds immediately surround him and hide him from view."

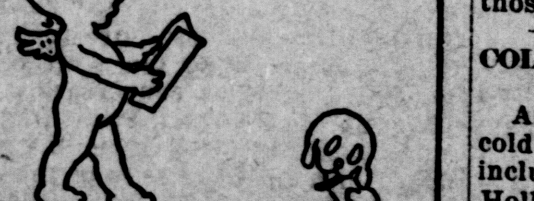

"Not so the American. He merely did what he was accustomed to do at home—paused, a solitary figure in a well-worn dressing gown, and bowed—not as an hotel manager or a shopwalker bows, but with little shy bows which were quite delightful to those of us who knew something of his battling reputation."

"The American did not win; he fought a magnificent, clean fight, and was beaten on points. But it was good to see the real pleasure with which he congratulated the better man."

NEW MACHINE PLACED ON FORT WORTH AVIATION FIELD

Fort Worth, Texas, June 8.—By a "rebreathing machine" here, the first of its kind to be established by the United States government or any of its allies anywhere, aviators flying under the Stars and Stripes henceforth will be classified according to their ability to thrive in high altitudes.

The machine is in a research laboratory at Barron aviation field, and is in charge of Lieutenant G. H. Hanson, F. W. Thomas and James Blair, who arrived in Fort Worth recently from Mineola, N. Y. It produces all the sensations of ascending and has been in use by the German air service, it is said, for five years.

Henceforth, no pilot from any of the local fields will be assigned to active duty overseas until he has passed the tests of the contrivance and been classified according to his ability to withstand altitude fatigue. Experience has taught that many air casualties are due to this fatigue. One man will be so affected that he will faint. Another will go along with his flying mechanically and with his mind so dulled that he cannot plan or execute an attack on an enemy. Still another will become stupid and his nerves will not react to the excitement of battle.

The pilots will be divided into three classes. In the first class will be placed airmen who are never affected by altitude fatigue and who can ascend and fight anywhere their planes will mount.

In the next class will be those whose mental faculties are dulled by high altitude.

And in the last, or third, will be those who faint under the stress.

BEST IN THE LONG RUN

Who Began Trench Warfare?

THE trench, which always encircled the Roman castra, or camp, was brought to France by Julius Caesar and used by him on the very battlefield where to-day the Allies and the Huns have 25,000 miles of trenches.

With rings of trenches, gradually drawn smaller, probably the first modern trench warfare, the Turks in 1667 took Candia.

Vauban, builder of Verdun, in 1673 employed the first parallel trenches, the system of the present war.

Defeat, not foresight, turned the Germans to trench warfare. But Goodrich never had to dig in.

Since twenty-two years ago Goodrich manufactured the first American pneumatic automobile tire, Goodrich has driven ahead to the big, graceful, masterful—

GOODRICH SERVICE VALUE TIRES

But whether Goodrich was revolutionizing tire manufacture by bringing forth the first American clincher tire—

Or originating the one practical non-skid, the cross-bar, safety-tread, or tough black tread rubber—

Goodrich built tires to one end—SERVICE VALUE—what they are worth to the motorist on his car and on the road in COMFORT of an easier riding car—ECONOMY in gasoline saved,—and LONG MILEAGE.

Small difference whether you buy GOODRICH SILVERTOWN CORDS, or BLACK SAFETY TREADS, you get SERVICE VALUE TIRES.

The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein.

The News will specialize on letters from soldiers in the issue of every Monday and in the Weekly. Of course where a letter is devoted strictly to family matters, it is not of much interest to the public, but one telling of the experience of the writer in active service is very readable and will be welcomed by the News, if sent in by the recipient.

Unless Mr. McAdoo modifies his rate raising order very promptly Oklahoma is going to be hard hit and all industries seriously crippled. Just before he issued his order for a 25 per cent increase on all rates the federal court had tied the hands of the state by enjoining the rates prescribed by the corporation commission and the roads very promptly advanced their charges by 50 per cent and more. Now with McAdoo's horizontal increase on top of this goods of all kinds can be shipped from outside the state much cheaper than between points within her borders. Mr.

McAdoo has promised to take up the question soon, but unless he does this before June 25 the situation will be serious indeed.

BE A PATRIOT.

"The destiny of the world will be determined by the utter sacrifice and self forgetfulness with which we give all that we love and all that we have to redeem the old and make it a 'fit place for free men like ourselves to live in.'—President Wilson.

In one short sentence the president has voiced the nation's acceptance of a tremendous task. Nothing less than the utmost we can do and give can be considered true patriotism.

Only through force can justice and peace for all mankind be gained, and no one of us who prizes the ideals of justice and humanity which are the birthright of every free born American, will fail to help intensify this force. Let everything you say or do proclaim your patriotism and join the vast wave of concentrated power that shall speedily vanquish Prussian Autocracy.

If the Socialists of Western Oklahoma should elect Kumrid Enfield to Congress and the higher courts at the same time affirm his twenty year sentence for conspiracy against the government in obstructing the draft, it would be some come down to be dragged out of the great capitol building to a common jail. Enfield's conviction indicates that he was doing the work of the kaiser well and perhaps he will be awarded an iron cross when his sentence expires. For the life of us we can't fathom the mind of such men if they are really sincere in their protestations of a desire to see democracy triumph the world over. If Germany wins it will mean that autocracy will be fastened on the entire population, yet these men by their actions condemn America and favor the despotism of Germany. It is a question of the survival of democracy, but Enfield and others of his ilk prefer the tyranny of Germany to the freedom of America. If Kaiserism prevails socialism will be stamped out with the same ruthlessness that has characterized Germany's dealing with other matters, yet these men seek to help to make possible a German victory. Enfield got off lightly. Had he been in Germany he would have long ago faced a firing squad had he attempted to obstruct successful conduct of the war as he has done here.

HOME TALENT CANTATA SCORES GREAT SUCCESS

The cantata, "Queen Esther," presented at the normal Friday evening by local musicians is pronounced by all as the greatest triumph ever scored by home talent and it is doubtful if it has been surpassed by any regular company. It proved that Ada is a real musical center and can give a highly creditable entertainment any time the occasion demands.

A very noticeable feature of "Queen Esther" was the clear enunciation of the performers, whether soloists or chorus singers and this added much to the interest. The elaborate costuming was all secured at home and was in itself no small item.

The cantata was prepared at the expense of great labor and effort under the direction of Miss Pearl Curry and the instrumental music was given by the Cruz orchestra. The proceeds from the sale of tickets in numbers sufficient to fill the auditorium almost to its capacity will go to the Red Cross.

"Babe" Ruth, the Boston Pitcher, signaled his return to the game by driving out four home runs in four days. He failed to get any other hits and consequently his average dropped off, but he still leads the league with 371. He has a record of seven home runs since the start of the season.

Killing at Ravia.
Early Wednesday morning, Ollie Page, a young man at Ravia, shot and instantly killed Lucian Blair. The weapon used was a 44-calibre revolver. Page immediately after the shooting surrendered to Constable Dan Coffey who brought him to Tishomingo. A charge of murder was filed against Page and he was locked up in the county jail to await preliminary hearing which will take place at Ravia before Squire McAlister at once.

Trouble is said to have been brewing for a long time and last Sunday it was only averted when Page collared Blair on the street and a fight seemed assured. But Blair pulled his knife (which was open in his pocket) and Page departed for the jail and uncut. No more was thought of the incident until Wednesday morning while Page (who is a section hand) was on his way to work, Blair (riding a horse) overtook him. This was near the gin west of the depot. Just what conversation took place no one knows. Page fired two shots and Blair fell from his horse dead. An open knife was found in his pocket.

Blair was buried Wednesday afternoon at Ravia.—Tishomingo Capital Democrat.

W. L. ALEXANDER FOR GOVERNOR

He stands for the federal administration, to the last man and last dollar.

He stands for highway improvement and advancement of our schools. He favors the solution of the tenant farmer problem, and would go about it in a businesslike manner, getting the facts before offering a remedy.

He favors the greatest possible production from our fields and would appoint only experienced farmers to the board of agriculture.

He favors the legislature making the laws, as was provided for in the state constitution.

He is opposed to either repeal or reduction of the three per cent gross production tax on oil.

Those are some of the things for which he stands, but, the more important feature to this gubernatorial campaign is, the man—has he the courage, the capacity and the experience?

No man has ever offered for position in Oklahoma with a wider experience and more practical knowledge of state affairs than W. L. Alexander.

He is safe; efficient and thorough; painstaking and possessed with a will that is only equaled by his energy.

The farmer, business man, laborer, professional man, all avocations and professions can rely on W. L. Alexander. He is efficient and proficient. He is not an experiment, but a thoroughly trained and successful business man who has attained his present eminent position because of ability, capacity and integrity. He has been a laborer, farmer, school teacher and public official. In whatsoever he has undertaken, he has shown his efficiency and ability, and the democratic voters of Oklahoma have never had a similar opportunity to make a chief executive of one whose training and ability guarantee so high a grade of efficiency.

W. L. ALEXANDER IS THE ONLY ONE OF THE LEADING DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES FOR GOVERNOR WHO HAS DARED TO TELL THE PEOPLE THAT HE FAVORS THE THREE PER CENT GROSS PRODUCTION TAX ON OIL. HE TELLS IN LANGUAGE THAT CAN NOT BE MISCONSTRUED THAT HE WILL OPPOSE ANY ATTEMPT TO REDUCE THIS TAX.

THIS, ALONE, MEANS THAT THE BUSINESS MEN AND FARMERS WILL NOT BE CALLED ON FOR THE FOUR MILLIONS OF DOLLARS IN TAXES THAT WOULD BE LOST WERE THIS TAX REPEALED.

A VOTE FOR ALEXANDER FOR GOVERNOR IS A VOTE FOR INTEGRITY AND A FAIR DISTRIBUTION OF TAXES.

Does anybody know where any of his opponents stand on this oil tax question?

Some of them want this tax "investigated, so if it be too high it may be reduced."

Do you wish to pay what the other fellow wishes to escape?

TERRIBLY SWOLLEN

Suffering Described As Torture Relieved by Black-Draught.

Rossville, Ga.—Mrs. Kate Lee Able, of this place, writes: "My husband is an engineer, and once while lifting, he injured himself with a piece of heavy machinery, across the abdomen. He was so sore he could not bear to press on himself at all, on chest or abdomen. He weighed 165 lbs., and fell off until he weighed 110 lbs., in two weeks.

He became constipated and it looked like he would die. We had three different doctors, yet with all their medicine, his bowels failed to act. He would turn up a ten-cent bottle of castor oil, and drink it two or three days in succession. He did this yet without result. We became desperate, he suffered so. He was swollen terribly. He told me his suffering could only be described as torture.

I sent and bought Theodor's Black-Draught. I made him take a big dose, and when it began to act he fainted, he was in such misery, but he got relief and began to mend at once. He got well, and we both feel he owes his life to Theodor's Black-Draught."

Theodor's Black-Draught will help you to keep fit, ready for the day's work. Try it!

BOLSHEVIKI THE RUIN OF RUSSIA

Stockholm, May 5 (Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Belief that the people of Russia want, above all things, peace at any price, is a mistake, asserts Vladimir Bourtseff, a noted Russian former revolutionary and newspaper man who has arrived here from Finland.

The Bolsheviki threaten the total destruction of Russia," said Bourtseff to a writer in the Dagens Nyheter. "They attained power by the help of the Germans and by the same means are maintained in power. Bolshevism is a danger not only for Russia but for the whole world and it is necessary that the supporters of its doctrines should be thoroughly defeated. Russia cannot be saved so long as the Bolsheviki are in control. I am convinced they can be conquered and I hope it will not be long before they are suppressed.

"What Russia needs is a government composed of Democrats and Cadets (Constitutional Democrats) with a man like Korniloff or Milyukoff at its head. The idea that the land above all things wants peace at any price is a mistake. This would be made plain under another government which, unlike the present, was not dependent on German support."

Bourtseff at the beginning of the war was living in Paris as a refugee. He immediately returned to Russia to offer his services to the government against Germany. He was arrested the moment he reached Russian soil and sent to Siberia. After a year there he was released on the

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Catarrh being greatly influenced by constitutional conditions requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in the curative powers of Hall's Catarrh Cure that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

BOLSHEVIKI THE RUIN OF RUSSIA

Washington, June 7.—The German government, threatening mistreatment of Americans because of the imprisonment of the bomb plotter Franz Rintelen, has been warned by the United States to remember that such a step will draw swift retaliatory action upon the thousands of Germans in this country.

Germany's threat and the answer of the United States were disclosed today by the state department. In a note presented by the Swiss minister here, the Berlin foreign office proposed to exchange for Rintelen, Siegfried Paul London, a German-born naturalized American citizen serving ten years in prison in Germany for acting as a Russian spy.

Notice was given that an answer to this proposal was awaited before putting into execution measures of reprisal against Americans in Germany because of the failure of previous efforts to release Rintelen.

Secretary Lansing replied with a terse communication refusing to consider the exchange and suggesting that while the United States does not acknowledge the principle of reprisal occasioning physical suffering, it would be wise for Germany to consider that if it acted upon that principle it inevitably would be understood to invite similar action.

Point was given to the secretary's suggestion by a statement issued tonight by the war department. It shows that 133 American soldiers have been located in German prison camps and 216 American civilians including merchant sailors are interned in Germany, while there are 5,000 Germans interned in this country including 1,310 prisoners of war.

Capt. Franz Rintelen, as he is known in this country, operated as an arch-plotter and German agent before the United States entered the war. He was convicted at New York last year in conspiring to cause strikes in munition plants and in February this year of conspiring to destroy food and munitions on ships and was sentenced to four years' imprisonment.

It has been reported that he is a close relative of the kaiser, closer, possibly than was officially acknowledged even when the officer was in Germany under his own name.

Catarrh of Stomach Did Not Know It

Mrs. Selena Tanner, Athens, Ohio, writes: "I cannot find words to express my thanks for your kind advice. I never once thought I had catarrh of the stomach. I commenced taking Peruna, as you directed. My stomach continued to hurt me for about two weeks after I began the medicine, and then it stopped. I now have a good appetite, while before 'was nearly starved.' Those who object to liquid medicines can procure Peruna Tablets."

"THE ACCIDENT"

By KATHERINE HOPSON.

It was mere chance and a business engagement which first led Edmund Crane to Thornbridge that summer. It was pleasant surroundings and Anne Van Ranseller that caused him to linger there. Not that Anne consciously augmented his staying. Such an act would have been beneath the dignity of a Van Ranseller.

"There's a limit to the cordiality one may give a perfect stranger who comes without credentials," she had declared to some of her friends when Crane first came to town. Nevertheless, when matters came to a climax a short time before he was to leave, Anne was terribly distressed. She felt that anything she might say to this whole-souled, unassuming man would hurt him vitally, and she didn't want to marry him. He was not at all the sort of man she had always pictured herself backing or social position. But, in spite of this, his virile personality made a strong appeal.

She was surprised at the pang of regret she felt when he could not go to the picnic that had been planned by the Thornbridge younger set next day. He was obliged to be out of town for the day on business, and Anne attended the picnic with her married sister in the latter's car.

The June day was glorious, the air soft and invigorating, the car smooth-running; but Anne's fair face wore a look of discontent. Of what use is it to be pretty and young, with a new auto well draped most becomingly over a fetching hat, when there is no one around to appreciate the effect?

When they reached the picnic grounds, Anne, with forced gaiety, joined the other girls in setting out the picnic dinner, and throughout the day kept up an appearance of merriment.

Shortly before the picnic party was ready to start home, someone drove up in a smart little runabout and Anne saw with a start of surprise it was Edmund Crane.

"Got in on the afternoon train instead of tonight," he explained in his breezy way.

When they were ready to go they found the chauffeur working with the Burke car. At last he turned and said with a look of sheepish concern on his stolid face:

"I'm sorry, but the car is out of commission. I'll have to telephone for a man to come out from town and fix it."

"How long will it take to get it mended?"

He considered. "An hour, most likely."

"And we're late already, and I'm expecting guests this evening," exclaimed Anne's sister, Mrs. Burke. Room was found for her in one of the other cars, while Crane gallantly begged the pleasure of Anne's company.

The different cars started back about the same time, and not until they were about half way home did the little procession become separated. Some slowed up, others put on speed, others turned down different roads, through the soft summer dusk.

"I wonder," said Anne, "if Dawson will get the car mended in time to get it home tonight?"

"No doubt of it."

"You think there wasn't a great deal the matter with it?"

"Not much."

"Something almost funny in his usually open face caught her attention, even in the gathering twilight. And a sudden suspicion leaped into her mind.

"You—mean to imply that the accident to the car wasn't—real?"

"Something of the sort," he nodded with a shame-faced smile.

"But—Dawson—"

"He was bribed to say it was broken." Then in a pleading tone. "It was my last chance to be with you, Anne. I'm due back at the Chicago office Monday. Won't—won't you reconsider the answer you gave me last night?"

For a few moments there was tense silence. Anne sat with her delicate face averted—conflicting emotions holding her in their grip. Perhaps it was Crane's breathless attention to what she might say that caused him to neglect his driving. Perhaps it was the jagged tree roots that lurked deceptively in the dusky road. At all events, the car swerved sharply and skidded into the ditch at the side.

Anne, after a moment of dazed shock, found herself on the grassy bank beyond, unhurt. But Crane, at the edge of the ditch, with blood trickling from an ugly cut on his forehead, lay still with closed eyes.

She dragged him over on the bank beside her, chafed his hands, crying and calling him by name. Then she moistened her handkerchief in the nearby brook, and wiped the blood from his forehead. Effete ideals and artificialities of her life slipped away from her, and she was primitive woman fighting for the life of her man.

After what seemed hours, but which afterwards she knew to be only a few minutes, faint color returned to his face and he opened his eyes.

"This—accident—wasn't faked. It was—the real thing," he smiled weakly.

"Hush—you mustn't try to talk." Tender hands stroked his head as it lay in her lap.

But he persisted. "I don't care if it's broken every bone in my body—for I've waked up—in heaven."
